Linda Pentz Gunter is the international specialist at Beyond Nuclear. She writes for and curates Beyond Nuclear International, focusing on the humanitarian impacts of nuclear power and nuclear weapons.

As a speaker of Italian, French, German, Spanish and a smattering of Welsh, she is interested in connecting the global anti-nuclear power and disarmament and peace movements with those fighting for climate justice and a rapid shift toward renewable energy, energy efficiency and conservation.

Prior to her work in the anti-nuclear movement, Linda was a journalist for 20 years. She has a BA Honors degree in English and Italian literature from Warwick University (UK).
